DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed 10/20/2008 has been entered and fully considered. The objection under 37 CFR 1.75(c) and rejections under 35 USC 112, 2nd paragraph are withdrawn in light of Applicant's amendments. Claims 1-16 are canceled. New claims 17-31 are pending and are supported by the specification as originally filed.
2. In response to reconsideration, the examiner withdraws rejections established in the previous Office action.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 17-31 are allowed. New numbering of claims is 1 through 15.
4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The closest prior art, Renaud et al. (US2003/0099577) (Renaud), teaches a similar idea of separating a small defined volume of a liquid from a relatively large undefined volume of the sample. Renaud and the present application both use defined volume of container (cavity or capillary) for storing the small defined volume of a liquid from a relatively large undefined volume of the sample. However, there are two differences between Renaud and the present application:

The first difference is that Renaud uses a capillary to store the fixed volume of liquid; the capillary has two open ends. While the applicant uses a cavity to store the fixed volume of liquid, the cavity has one open end;

The second difference is that Renaud uses gas to flush out the stored liquid through the other open end of the capillary, while the applicant uses the first channel inside the scrapper cap and a liquid stored in a first reservoir that connected to the first channel to flush out the stored liquid through a second channel in the scrapper into a second reservoir.

Therefore, the instant application is patentably distinct from the disclosure of the closest prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance.
